

The Surprising Reality of Who Needs a Prenuptial Agreement

It is often easy to dismiss the need for a prenuptial agreement. Many say they're "just starting out" or lack sufficient assets, presumptuously making a prenuptial agreement unnecessary. In reality, a prenuptial agreement isn't only an important planning tool to protect personal or family assets. It can help couples reduce the emotional and costly process of post-separation asset division.

Most importantly a prenuptial agreement can present an opportunity for a young couple to openly and honestly discuss their financial positions, their goals, and help to build trust while laying a foundation to build a long-term financial plan by helping them make decisions upfront and manage expectations for the future.

Given the countless challenges a couple might face in today's culture, a prenuptial agreement, discussed with an attorney, in consult with their financial and/or spiritual advisor, can alleviate future difficulties.

---

Brad Hillman, Attorney at Casale & Bonner P.C.
Williamsport, Pennsylvania

Don't assume that a prenuptial agreement isn't right for you.
Let our trusted ensemble of financial advisors help you make the best decision for your financial future.

www.evergreenwealthsolutions.com

1000 Commerce Park Drive, Suite 407 | Williamsport, PA 17701
Phone: 570.601.6960 | Fax: 570.651.9032
info@egwealth.com

Information contained in this newsletter has been derived from third-party sources. Although we believe these sources to be reliable, we make no representations as to the accuracy of any such information derived from any third-party, and take no responsibility therefore. No portion of this commentary is to be construed as a solicitation or recommendation to buy or sell any security, or the provision of personalized investment, tax or legal advice. Before making decisions with legal, tax or accounting ramifications, please consult with the appropriate professionals for advice that is specific to your situation. Evergreen Wealth Solutions, LLC can assist in determining a suitable investment approach for a given individual, which may or may not closely resemble the strategies outlined herein.